What if Atsumu planned go to college and play volleyball? What if he and Sakusa were going to play for the same school?

But then Osamu explained his plans for the future, how he wanted to open up his own restaurant, how he was going to have to take out loans to do it? +

Atsumu started thinking about how he could help his twin. He's talented enough to get on a v league team. He's handsome enough to gain sponsorships. He can live in team housing & save money to invest in Osamu's restaurant so the loans aren't bad

It was an easy decision to make.
