Idk just imagining that Osamu has a special photo album with only pictures of Atsumu he took and he looks at it every night when he's not with him before going to bed so he's sure to at least see him in his dreams.

And Atsumu also has one but they never tell each other about it until one day Osamu stumbles on it while helping Atsumu move in with him. He's too flustered to talk about it and is content with just sneaking peeks early in the morning when he thinks his twin is still asleep, little did he know he got caught multiple times. They never really talk about it but it brings warmth to their hearts either way.

Idk I just had this cute hc in my head and needed to put it in writing
