osamu has always been the more calm twin, he's never really yelled, laughed loud, cried, or smiled really. but hes watched atsumu do all of those things.

he knows atsumu's every weak spot, everything there is to know about atsumu, it's all there.

osamu has always been stronger and faster.

so when he finds out that he has feelings for atsumu in middle school, he's made it his job to keep him close, not because he's an alpha , but because he's in love with atsumu and wants to make him his mate one day.

so, osamu does that, he locks their bedroom door when atsumu wasn't looking and pounces on him like a cat. "s-samu? what're ya doin?"

osamu has atsumu pinned against the mattress, staring into his hazel eyes. and atsumu knows. he knows it's wrong to mate with a family member.

but he also knows that osamu wants nothing more than to mate with him and to finally have his scent all over atsumu so no other man would even dare look in his direction.

"yer going to be mine atsumu"
